SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 .- The farewell reception given last night by the upon his departure for Hawaii to as- badly needed. sume the duties of United States District Judge was highly flattering to the guest by reason of the large attendance, the character of those present and the many complimentary allusions to the distinguished Californian. The bench and bar were represented by many notables, among the jurists present being Justice Brown of the United States Supreme Court, United States Judge W. W. Morrow and Justice Mc-Farland of the California Supreme 20

President A. G. Booth of the Union League Club presided and introduced Judge Estee, remarking that such a formality was really superfluous in California, and especially in the Union League. Judge Estee spoke feelingly of his forthcoming departure and referred in warm terms to the friendships that have grown up during the fortyseven years of his life in California.

I could not leave this city and the friends I see before me without saying a few words of farewell. Yet I bear in mind the thought that I am not going away from our country. I will always be an American citizen. Whether I am in Hawaii or elsewhere, the love that I bear for our country, and especially for the State of California, will never grow cold with the passing years. I came here forty-seven years ago, before I was nineteen years of age. My manhood and much of my youth have been passed here, and I cannot leave without a feeling of profound regret. But I am not severing all ties, for the district I to to preside over is part of the Ninth ircuit. Irving M. Scott was called for. He pet with the cordial reception accordd to all the speakers and was loudly applauded when he referred to his long 'riendship with Judge Estee, extending wer thirty-seven years.

Judge Morrow, presiding over the United States Circuit Court, was noted accompanied by Justice Brown of the United States Supreme Court, whom he conducted to the platform. Judge Mor- spectfully, row was first introduced. He said in

Perhaps I should add, in modesty, that if the Ninth Circuit does not straighten them out, the United States Supreme Court will." Justice Brown of the Supreme Court was next introduced and was most cordially greeted. After a few words of pleasantry he said:

"As to Hawaii, whatever may be said of imperialism and the questions that have recently arisen, I have always of both countries. I had occasion to make the observation to the Chief Justice some time ago that it would be my greatest pleasure some day to write an opinion upon appeal from the Supreme Court of Hawaii. And if in the future, regardless of this talk of imperalism, the opportunity arises whereby I shall be called upon to write opinions on auses carried up from the courts of bench." Others also spoke.

CUSTOMS LAUNCH NEEDED.

Business of the Port Hampered by

Lack of One.

Honolulu is probably the only port of its size in the world where the customs authorities are not possessed of a steam, gasoline or naptha launch by means of which they are enabled to board incoming foreign steamers. A launch is sadly needed in this port. Hours of tiresome waiting have to be endured by passengers anxious to get ashore, people desiring to get aboard and the public in general who are waiting for news of the outside world.

If the customs officer could board the vessel outside instead of waiting on the dock until she is moored good and fast, Honolulu would be more up-to-date and a great deal of valuable time and energy would be saved. Collector Stackable, when addressed on the sub-Union League Club to Morris M. Estee ject yesterday, said that a launch was Diocesan Magazine Publishes His Consent to Remain.

The following from the Diocesan Magazine, published yesterday, of which the Episcopal Bishop, Alfred Honolulu, is editor, will be of interest, as it shows Rev. V. H. Kitcat's Intention to remain in Honolulu; Honolulu, June 26, 1900.

My Dear Canon Kitcat:-When I accepted your resignation, which you tendered on the 15th of February, in view of the expected charge of jurisdiction, it was not possible to forecast the course of events, nor were the steps clearly laid down by which the change would be carried out. No one then saw, as clearly as it is now seen, that the action of our Diocesan Synod, authorizing an alteration in our charter, must precede any action on the part of the American Church except their invitation to us to proceed, according to our resolution of last November. Consequently, if your resignation were to be followed by the resignation of others of the clergy at this juncture, the Diocesan Synod might easily be reduced to an inoperative body, and a very disastrous condition would ensue. Hence it is now impressed upon me, as it was not impressed on me in February, that it is a matter of the greatest importance for the future of the Church that the status quo American law and justice are based on November last. The time for changes to take place in the various incumbencies should not be before but after the Anglican Church in Hawaii has passed asked you then to withhold your resignation for the time. If it is still possible for you to con-
